FEMALE ROBIN HOOD.

Eighteen-Year-D14 Girl the Captain of a Gaug of Robbers - Midnight lianquets of the Coterinof Thieves.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 7 .- Min Brotherton, an eighteen-year-old girl, who lives in the woods between Wilton and New Canaan, has been placed under arrest by Constable Mauace Buttery, charged with being the cader of a gang of housebreakers and rice Buttery, charged with senig the leader of a gang of housebreakers and thieves.

The warrant on which she was arrested charges her with forcible entry into the house of old Mr. June, the hermit, of Wilton, and she has confessed her share in the escapade.

The authorities have not placed the girl behind prison bars, but prefer to use her as a decoy in the hope of capturing the revaginder of the gang, several of whom are known, but against whom there is no direct evidence.

For some time past the farmers have been made the victims of an organized band of thieves, headed by the girl captain. As a rule the burgiaries have been petty in their character. Small sums of money have been taken, but provisions seem to be the greater attraction for the marauders.

It has been their habit to ransack the larder and hold midnight banquets, at which the girl presided and was the leading spirit in the reckless revels. The sirl, it is said, planned the expeditions and assumed a leadership in all the movements of the gang. On the night of a raid it has been her habit to slip from home, meet her faithful followers and then the raids would begin. The gang seemed to have a fondness for hams and provisions of all kinds. They were epicures, and their leader was a good cook.

On the night of the burglary at June's

The gang seemed to have a fondness for hams and provisions of all kinds. They were epictres, and their leader was a good cook.

On the night of the burglary at June's little of value was taken away. The object was to have a feast. The young girl proposed a meal of not biscuit, and while she was making the dough the men gathered about the table drinking and telling stories.

Then followed a carousar and toasts to the queen of marauders were drunk with great gusto.

The girl's word is law with her chosen band, and it is doubtful if the plans of the constabulary to force her to being the part of the pa keep slient.

"What made you go with the band, and break into Hermit June's place?" I and break into Hermit June's place?" I asked.

"I didn't know that I was going there," answered Minnie.

Mrs. Brotherton said that she had lots of trouble with Minnie, and neither herself nor her husband could curb her. A few nights ago the barn, about fifty yards from the house where the Brotherton's live, was burned to the ground. Some say the marauders were in the barn smoking while they were awalting for their fair chieftain to join them, and that the hay caught from the fire from the sparks from their pipes and cigars.

Constable Buttery's plans miscarried a few nights ago. Everything was ready for Minnie to accompany the gang on another expedition, and the constable was to swoop down upon them when they were in the midst of their origies. But the astute constable was disappointed.

Buttery is a shrewd sleuth, with typical Connecticut whiskers. He seems to think that by keeping the girl at her house instead of locking her up, the others will walk into a trap.

VICTOR HUGO'S ROMANCE

Of the Unfettered Gun on Shipboard Real ized-The Sailor's Peril.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 7.—Under circumstances which bring to mind Victor Hugo's famous description of a big gun lurching back and forth on a storm sed man-of-war, the schooner Agnes I. Grace, of Bangor, Me., capsized and went to the bottom yesterday morning went to the bottom yesterday morning twenty miles east of Tybee. Her crew came ashore in a boat and landed on Warsaw Island in the afternoon.

The schooner, which was a three-masted vessel, sailed from New York on August 25 with a cargo of salt for Savannah. On her deck were four sixteen ton guns for the Tybee fortifications. She arrived opposite Tybee at night in a severe northeaster and an effort was made to hold her up to the wind and prevent her from being driven further south.

The vessel tossed all night long in the heavy seas. Just as the storm began to Interest on the part of London than has been manifested since the present rise in prices. Prices were higher in London before the opening here and buying for London account was quite a preminent factor during the day. London bought about 40,000 shares.

The orders which had accumulated in commission house offices over the double holiday were also effective at the opening in helping to rush up prices. The heavy sales to realize, however, and the yellow fever sentiment, soon put a stop to the upward movement and the the yellow fever sentiment, soon put a stop to the upward movement and the market was depressed for most of the balance of the day below Saturday's close, the decline from the opening high point exceeding a point in many prominent shares. The buying in Northern Pacific, New York Central, Cieveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis and the grangers, especially Burlington, brought the market back to above Saturday's level of prices, stocks, which remained below, being exceptional. Sugar moved in an erratic manner all day over a runge of 2½ points, showing strength for the most part. The preferred stock generally were somewhat neglected. CHICAGO—Wheat is going close to the dollar mark again. December closed to day at $6%c, an advance of 2½c since Saturday. Strong cables and a heavy export business started the market strong and kept it in that condition. Corn scored a lo advance, notwithstanding enormous receipts and denials of crop damage. Oats shared in the prosperity to the extent of a ½c advance. Provisions were affected somewhat by the yellow fever scare but at the close showed only a ½c decline in pork and 2½c in ribs, while lard advanced 5c. The Liverpool wheat market had advanced before trading commenced here the equivalent of 4½c per bushel over the price it closed on Saturday last, 2c of that rise having occurred yesterday. Paris was also quoted 3c per bushel hisher since Saturday. In sympality with the strength abroad, an advance of about 2c inaugurated the day's business here. December starting at from 55½c to 953½c, compared with Saturday's closeful for eaping so material a profit and their offerings caused the market to show a sagging tendency most of the forencen, December declining to 94½c before any material rally occurred. The trade statistics of last week's movement of wheat in the direction of consuming countries were somewhat of a drag to the market. The week's shipments of wheat and flour from all sources to the importing countries of Europe were 9.512,000 bushels the corresponding week of 1896. The quantity on ocean passage was thereby increased 2.000.000 bushels.

The visible increased 5.347,000 bushels. Charters were for 575,000 bushels. The shipping demand was slow. December opened at from 32c to 53%c, against Saturday's close of 22%652%c. It ranged between 33%632%c, closing at 32%c. More interest was shown in oats. There was considerable influential buying and the market ruled firm from the start. The strength of corn was apparently the principal factor. The visible supply increased 225,000 bushels. Receipts for three days were posted at 949 care. December ranged between 20% 00 5% for the day.

A yellaw fever scare on a mild scale struck the provisions suffering especially. Packers, however, gave the market vigorous support and before the close the market had steadied, lard even showing an advance. Hogs were weak and lower. December pork closed 100 lower at
